Developing the Snapshot of Canada

On June 4, 1991 Canadians across the country contributed to a statistical portrait of the nation when they completed a Census of Population or a Census of Agriculture questionnaire. Using data from these surveys as well as from the post-censal surveys conducted in the fall of 1991, Statistics Canada — the national statistical agency — is putting together a wide assortment of products and services to serve the information needs of Canada's decision-makers, policy analysts, researchers and other interested individuals.

Census of Population

Get the Picture — 1991 Census Data Products and Services

Several new features will interest clients, including:

- earlier release dates
- products that focus on trends as well as 1991 "snapshots"
- formats that are easier to use and understand
- better client support services, including workshops on how to get the most out of census data
- more emphasis on analysis.

As always, census products and services are offered with Statistics Canada's unconditional guarantee of protection for respondent confidentiality.

I. REFERENCE PRODUCTS

Reference products are divided into three main categories:

- General
- Technical Reports
- Geographic

General Reference Products

Designed to make census products and services easier to use by helping clients identify their needs and interpret the data. Included in the General Reference Products are:

1991 Census Dictionary

Available 1st quarter 1992

The Dictionary provides definitions for all the concepts, variables and geographic elements of the 1991 Census, and includes information about historical comparability. The Dictionary will be produced in print. A possible electronic version is under investigation.

1991 Census Catalogue

Available 2nd quarter 1992

The Catalogue describes all products and services available from the 1991 Census and how to obtain them. It will be produced in print and possibly also in electronic form.

1991 Census Handbook

Available 3rd quarter 1992

The Handbook provides an overview of the census. It presents a brief history of Canadian censuses and describes the data collection and processing activities. It discusses each question, including a comparison with 1986 Census questions. It introduces data users to the census variables and geography, and provides an overview of products and services. Data quality, confidentiality and different applications of Census data are also discussed. It will be available in print form only.

1991 Census Tabulation Guide

Available 4th quarter 1992

The Tabulation Guide lists all tabulations planned for the 1991 Census, and describes their content including the levels of geographic detail available. The Tabulation Guide will be available in electronic form. It may be offered along with the planned electronic versions of the Census Catalogue and the Dictionary.

1991 Census General Review

Available 1st quarter 1995

The review of the 1991 Census focuses on the planning, procedures and systems required to undertake and complete the census, paying particular attention to changes introduced since the 1986 Census. It is planned for production in print form only.

1991 Census Technical Reports

*Available beginning 1st quarter 1993
to 1st quarter 1994*

The 1991 Census was a large and complex undertaking. While considerable effort was taken to ensure high standards throughout all collection and processing operations, the results are subject to a certain degree of error. The technical reports examine the quality of the 1991 Census data, including demographic, social, cultural, labour force and income variables. Each document looks at:

- definitions of concepts and components of the variable
- collection and coverage
- regional and head office processing
- edit and imputation
- data evaluation
- products and services
- historical comparability.

Geographic Reference Products

The key to obtaining the census data most appropriate to your needs is to define the area you require as accurately as possible.

Geographic Reference Products can help you to do just that.

Reference Maps

Reference maps identify census geographic areas and locate their boundaries, allowing users to relate census data to actual physical locations on the ground. Published reference maps are available for geographic areas that range in size from census tracts (neighbourhoods), census subdivisions (municipalities), census divisions (counties), to census agglomerations and census metropolitan areas (large urban centres), and federal electoral districts. These reference maps are also available individually on demand.

The maps include:

Census Divisions (CD) and Census Subdivisions (CSD)

Available 2nd quarter 1992

Reference maps of census divisions and census subdivisions in each province and territory (21 maps), plus an index map (1 map) showing the coverage of each of these reference maps. Also includes one reference map of all census divisions in Canada.

Census Metropolitan Areas (CMA) and Census Agglomerations (CA)

Available 2nd quarter 1992

Reference maps of all census metropolitan areas (25 maps) and census agglomerations (123 maps), showing their component census subdivisions and CMA/CA parts (i.e. urbanized core, urban fringe, rural fringe).

Census Tracts (CT)

Available 2nd quarter 1992

Reference maps of census tracts for each census metropolitan area and for selected census agglomerations. These maps will also be included in the appropriate census tract profile data bulletins (approximately 80 maps for 39 centres).

Federal Electoral Districts (FED)

Available 3rd quarter 1991

A reference map showing the federal electoral districts in Canada. This map will also be included in the FED profile bulletins.

Enumeration Areas (EA)

Available 2nd quarter 1992

The large scale of the enumeration area (EA) reference maps requires that they be produced only on demand. With their high level of detail, they can be used as geographic frames for survey operations. The 44,000 EAs of the 1991 Census will be displayed on 3 series of maps according to location, as follows:

Series 1: Large urban centres (G-13 series)

Series 2: Small urban centres (G-14 and 16 series)

Series 3: Rural areas (G-12 series)

Enumeration Area (EA) Reference Lists

Available 3rd quarter 1992

This series of national and regional publications identifies the linkage between 1991 EAs and census standard geographic areas (i.e. census metropolitan areas, census subdivisions, census tracts). It also includes provincial tables listing geographically equivalent 1991 and 1986 EAs.

This print publication series assists users in accessing census data for standard geographic areas and in comparing 1991 and 1986 EA data. EAs are the building blocks for current census data and for historical comparability. In general, the print series will be in an identical format to the 1986 Series. The information will also be available in electronic form.

Geography Guide Book

Available 2nd quarter 1992

This primer on 1991 census geography includes a description of standard and non-standard geographic reporting areas as well as an overview of available products and services. For each product or service, some recommended uses and limitations will be described in simple language.

1991 Census Geography: A Historical Comparison

Available 2nd quarter 1992

This publication compares the geographic areas used in the 1986 Census and those used in the 1991 Census.

Geocoding Coverage for the 1991 Census

Available 2nd quarter 1992

This reference product helps users access data for their own personalized (non-standard) geographical areas. It includes information on historical comparability, beginning with the 1971 Census. It provides:

- 44 reference maps (one for each CMA/CA having block-face data) indicating which CSD components of the CMA/CA are included in the block-face data retrieval program, with CSD boundary outlines for all the CMA/CA components

- 44 reference tables providing statistical data for each of the CMA/CA/CSD components, including the census year of CSD incorporation into the block-face program.

GEO-INFO (Geographic Information System)

Available 2nd quarter 1992

The GEO-INFO System is a micro-computer based system (IBM compatible), with a pre-programmed Geographic Enquiry Diskette and data diskettes for each province and territory.

The system uses data from the 44,000 Enumeration Areas (EAs) — the smallest building blocks — and lets the user access all higher levels of standard census geography. For the selected geographical area, the system provides names, codes, population, dwellings, land area ( $\text{km}^2$ ), linkages to other geographies and many other attributes.

II. DATA PRODUCTS

These products and services present a wide range of census data for both standard and non-standard geographic areas. Also included are definitions and concepts, data quality and coverage information and a listing of Statistics Canada publications featuring data on similar topics. Analysis is restricted to highlights only — these are products for people who want to crunch their own numbers.

Publications remain the format of choice for many people in business and research but increasingly information is also needed in electronic form. Options for providing electronic versions of publication data are under investigation.

As well as offering the following publications series, Statistics Canada will produce similar data for selected sub-provincial areas, in electronic medium and print-on-demand.

Population and Dwelling Counts

Available 2nd to 4th quarter 1992

This series is designed to offer a geographic distribution of Canada's population, presented under these geographic units:

- Canada, the Provinces and Territories — A National Overview
- Federal Electoral Districts
- Census Divisions (counties) and Census Subdivisions (municipalities)
- Census Metropolitan Areas and Census Agglomerations (large urban centres)
- Urban Areas
- Unincorporated Places
- Place Name Reference Lists (reference lists reporting Census Subdivisions, Unincorporated Places and selected Urban Areas)

For most geographic units, the variables covered include population and dwelling counts, land area, population change and density, percentage growth or decline.

The Nation Series

*100% data available 3rd quarter 1992;
20% sample data available
4th quarter 1992 through 2nd quarter 1993*

This will be among the first series released — presenting considerable detail on selected variables (for example, occupation) or alternatively cross-tabulations to illustrate the analytical potential of the data (for example, marital status by age and sex). In addition, some tables include comparisons with data from earlier censuses.

Most tables show provincial and territorial as well as national data. Selected data for census metropolitan areas are also included in most publications.

The series consists of twenty-three publications. The first four contain basic information collected from all households (100% data) on demographic, family, household and dwelling characteristics. The rest of the publications contain data from the 20% sample, covering demographic, social, cultural, labour force and income variables; others include dwellings, households and family characteristics.

Area Profile Series

*100% data available 3rd and
4th quarters 1992
20% sample data available 2nd
and 3rd quarters 1993*

This publication series gives a statistical overview, or profile, for a variety of subprovincial areas. A wide range of Census variables (characteristics) are covered showing for each area: counts, averages, distributions and percentages.

The information profiled for each area is grouped under five main headings:

- population
- dwellings
- households
- family
- income

Characteristics of the population, for example, include:

- population by sex and age
- marital status
- language (such as mother tongue, home language)
- ethnic origin
- immigrant population
- mobility status
- schooling
- labour force activity

Distributions and averages will be shown separately for income of:

- males and females 15 years and over
- households
- census families

Typically, the variables are not cross-tabulated, and the percentages are limited to measures such as:

- participation and unemployment rates
- incidence of low income

Separate profiles will be published for the 100% data and the 20% sample data.

The catalogued publications proposed for the area profile series will be grouped into five sub-series:

- census divisions (counties) and subdivisions (municipalities)
- federal electoral districts
- census metropolitan areas and census agglomerations (large urban areas)
- census tracts (neighbourhoods)
- urban and rural areas

The profiles will also be available in electronic form. Two additional profiles, for Enumeration Areas and Urban Forward Sortation Areas (based on the first three digits of the postal codes), are planned only as machine-readable products.

Dimension Series

*Available 3rd quarter 1993
to 1st quarter 1994*

These publications present statistical information on themes of considerable public interest. Some publications look at historical trends, such as population growth and shifts from 1971 to 1991. Other profile sub-populations such as ethnic groups or address special interest subjects, including labour force characteristics of the Canadian population in 1991.

Data presentation varies from basic summary statistics to detailed breakdowns and cross-tabulations. Geographic levels also vary as some volumes present data for Canada only, while others present data for Canada, provinces and territories. For most of the publications, geographic detail not shown in the printed product will be available in an electronic format. Each volume in the series features highlights of the important trends and findings.

Aboriginal Peoples Products

*Available 1st quarter 1993
to 4th quarter 1993*

A series of publications will focus on persons who reported during the 1991 Census that they were registered under the Indian Act of Canada or who reported at least one aboriginal origin such as North American Indian, Métis or Inuit. These publications will cover a wide range of Census variables — for example, age, sex, language use, labour force status and income — for each aboriginal group and for the non-aboriginal population. In the fall of 1991, consultations will be undertaken to determine exact requirements for this series, including the variables, the geographic areas and complementary products.

In addition, the post-censal "Aboriginal Peoples Survey" will be conducted shortly after the 1991 Census. (See section on Post-censal Surveys.)

More and more data users want access to data in electronic formats and Statistics Canada has responded to this need with a full line of electronic data products and services.

Basic Summary Tabulations

*100% data available 3rd and
4th quarters 1992;
20% sample data available 1st and
2nd quarters 1993*

A series of approximately 50 tabulations of 1991 Census data. Each one features two or three inter-related variables and deals with a specific aspect of the Canadian population — as individuals, families or households — or Canadian dwellings. The topics covered include: demography, mobility, ethno-cultural characteristics, language, schooling, labour force characteristics, income, families, households and dwellings.

These tabulations are available for geographic areas extending from the country as a whole to enumeration areas, the smallest geographic unit for which Census data are available. Tables will be available in electronic form and print-on-demand.

1991 Public Use Microdata Files

*Available 4th quarter 1993
to 1st quarter 1994*

The Public Use Microdata Files on Individuals, Families and Households contain a wide selection of social, cultural and economic data on the population of Canada, the provinces and selected metropolitan areas with a population of 250,000 or more. These products provide information based on samples from the 1991 Census, ranging from one to two per cent.

Unique among Census products, these files allow users to work with non-aggregated information. As a result, they are powerful analytical and research tools.

Statistics Canada guarantees the confidentiality of the information it collects. No information is released that can in any way identify individuals.

1991 Census CD-ROM

*100% data available 1st quarter 1992;
20% sample data available
3rd quarter 1993*

This is a new product for the 1991 Census — a machine-readable version of the area profile data. All profile data will be merged onto a single CD-ROM, with a number of additional features to enhance the usefulness of the basic product — for example, an electronic version of the Dictionary, and perhaps the Catalogue. The product will (ultimately) contain both the 100% and 20% sample data.

Census Custom Products

This service has been set up to produce data to meet the specific needs of clients. The product line consists of custom cross-tabulations, semi-custom cross-tabulations, and semi-custom profiles. Tabulations can be produced, for the most part, from both the 100% and 20% data bases for the 1971, 1976, 1981, 1986 and 1991 Censuses. The service develops products that meet clients' exact requirements in terms of content, geography, format and output medium. Cost and delivery time vary depending on the size and complexity of request and are approved by the client before development begins. The goals of the service for the 1991 Census are to reduce delivery times considerably and to decentralize some aspects of the service so as to better serve clients.

Three product types will be offered. For all three, 100% data will be available in the 3rd quarter of 1992 and 20% sample data will be available beginning in the 2nd quarter 1993.

- a. Custom cross-tabulations — are the most flexible and specialized product type. Clients determine the content, geography, format and output medium for their data request.
- b. Semi-custom cross-tabulations — are based on the content of the published tabulations from the 1991 Census. The content and format of the tables are fixed, but clients may choose any level of geography, along with the output medium. Turnaround times are generally faster, and prices lower, than those for fully customized tabulations.
- c. Semi-custom profiles — provide content and format similar to the published profiles, but users chose the geography and output medium (available 3rd quarter 1993).

Both semi-custom and custom products will be available in a variety of output media, including computer print-out, magnetic tape and diskette. Specialized formats required for compatibility with various computer systems can be provided in most cases.

III. ANALYTICAL PRODUCTS

The analytical products provide an interpretation of the 1991 Census data on a variety of topics or themes, and present the findings in an easy-to-read style, well-illustrated by graphs, maps and charts.

The Daily

With each major release of data from the 1991 Census data base, highlights of major trends and findings are published in Statistics Canada's official release vehicle, The Daily. This bulletin, along with its weekly counterpart Infomat, provides data users with up-to-the-minute information on the full range of data released from Canada's national statistical agency. A compilation of the highlights from The Daily will be published following the final release of data from the 20% sample data base. The compilation provides a handy desk-top reference of major conclusions from the 1991 Census.

Short Articles Series

100% data available 3rd quarter 1992 to 3rd quarter 1993; 20% sample data available 4th quarter 1992 to 2nd quarter 1994

A series of general interest articles on contemporary social issues and concerns. Although a variety of data sources will be featured, the overall focus will be on 1991 Census results. Written for the non-technical user, these 5-page articles will also include charts, graphs and tables. They are intended for wide distribution.

Focus on Canada

*Available 3rd quarter 1993
to 2nd quarter 1994*

One of Statistics Canada's most popular series is back. Focus on Canada is a series of descriptive analytical publications that look at current social, economic and demographic characteristics of the Canadian population. Readers like this series for its easy-to-read style since statistical findings are supported by straightforward text and clearly illustrated in tables and charts.

These publications cover many aspects of Canadian society and focus on distinctive segments of our population, such as the growing senior population, the changing family and the residents of Canada's north. Data from previous censuses and other sources are also used to illustrate the current situation as well as study trends over time on a national, provincial and metropolitan area level.

Monographs

To be announced

As part of its 1991 Census product line, Statistics Canada will produce a series of studies focusing on major issues affecting Canadian society over the next decade and beyond. Students, researchers, policy analysts and other professionals in the field will be interested by the in-depth analyses of this series. Some studies will have a regional, others a national focus. The monographs will be supported by complementary machine readable data sets whenever possible.

Metropolitan Atlas Series

Available 1st quarter 1994

Statistics Canada will publish a series of 12 atlases portraying census data at the census tract (neighbourhood) level. Each atlas will contain thematic and dot distribution maps, graphics, explanatory and summary notes. Each atlas in the series will cover a census metropolitan area (CMA).

1991 Census of Agriculture

I. REFERENCE PRODUCT

1991 Census of Agriculture Products and Services

Available 2nd quarter 1992

This publication will help users identify which product or service will best fill their data requirements and serves as a guide for the concepts and variables of the Census of Agriculture. Descriptions of the geography used in the census as well as useful background information will be included. This publication will provide complete details on the full line of Census of Agriculture products and services including pricing and ordering information.

II. DATA PRODUCTS

This series will provide users with key agricultural data in two formats; the traditional print series of publications will be supplemented by tables in electronic medium. As well, previously unpublished consolidated census subdivision (CCS) level data will be available in print and electronic media.

Agricultural Profiles

Agricultural Profile of Canada — Part I

Available 2nd quarter 1992

Agricultural Profile of Canada — Part II

Available 4th quarter 1992

Agricultural Profile of (Each Province) —
Part I

Available 2nd quarter 1992

Agricultural Profile of (Each Province)
— Part II

Available 4th quarter 1992

This series of 22 publications reveals the data collected from all Canadian farm holdings. Basic counts for Canada, the provinces and territories are covered in two volumes; basic counts for provinces, agriculture regions, census divisions and census consolidated subdivisions are in an additional 20 volumes. Maps indicating the appropriate census geography will be included in each volume.

Census Overview of Canadian Agriculture: 1971-1991

Available 2nd quarter 1992

This publication will present a historical look at Canadian agriculture using census data from 1971 to 1991.

Profile of the Canadian Farm Population

Available 4th quarter 1993

This publication will display basic counts and totals for selected data for all farm operator households.

III. ANALYTICAL PRODUCTS

These publications will offer descriptive analyses on a variety of topics related to the agricultural sector. These products are being developed with a wide audience in mind and will be supplemented with tables, graphs and maps.

Trends and Highlights of Canadian Agriculture and Its People

Available 3rd quarter 1992

Users find this a concise study of key agricultural and socio-economic variables from the Census of Agriculture and the Census of Population.

The Face of Canadian Agriculture

Available 1st quarter 1994

A compendium of feature articles analyzing data from the Censuses of Agriculture and Population in one volume. Topics will cover farm women, farm families, farm labour and income, and characteristics of the farm and rural population.

Canadian Agriculture at a Glance

Available 2nd quarter 1994

This publication provides users with key variables from the Agriculture and Population data bases in graphic and map format.

IV. CUSTOM SERVICES

The User Services Unit of the Census of Agriculture can tailor products to users' special requirements. Custom services are available for tabulations, thematic maps and user workshops. All data requests are subject to confidentiality constraints.

- a. Custom tabulations — allow the user to create personalized tables. Custom tabulations can be created from the Agriculture, the Agriculture-Population and the Historical data bases. Customized data are available for Census years 1966 to 1991. (Data from 1966 and 1976 are not available for the Agriculture-Population linkage.) Census of Agriculture data will be available starting in the 2nd quarter of 1992; 100% data from the Agriculture-Population base will be available in the 3rd quarter 1992 while the 20% sample data will be available in the 4th quarter 1993.

- b.    Thematic maps — are an effective means to present statistical data visually. Maps using the Atlas*Graphics software can be produced to the client's specifications and are available in black and white or in colour.

Custom tabulations and maps can be produced for Census of Agriculture standard geography as well as user-defined areas. Custom tabulations can be delivered as a computer printout, on tape or diskette. Diskette formats are available in ASCII, LOTUS or DBASE. Maps can be printed on paper or transparent film and are also available on diskette. All custom services are priced on a cost-recovery basis. Prices and delivery are dependant on the complexity of the individual request.

Post-censal Surveys

Two post-censal surveys will be held in the fall of 1991. The Health and Activity Limitation Survey, conducted for the first time following the 1986 Census, will be repeated in 1991. A new Aboriginal Peoples Survey will also be conducted.

Consultations with user groups of both surveys are planned for the fall of 1991 to develop the product lines.

1991 Health and Activity Limitation Survey (HALS)

The purpose of this survey is to determine the nature and severity of the activity limitations some Canadians may experience and to identify the kinds of barriers they face in their daily lives in such areas as education, employment, leisure activities, housing and transportation.

Data will be available for Canada, the provinces and territories and eight census metropolitan areas (CMAs).

The Aboriginal Peoples Survey

Conducted a few months after the 1991 Census, the Aboriginal Peoples Survey covers such major topics as: aboriginal group identity, language and tradition, disability, health, lifestyle and social issues, mobility, schooling, work and related activities, expenditures and income, and housing conditions. Survey data will be available for:

- Indian reserves and settlements, and other selected Aboriginal communities with populations of 100 or more
- selected metropolitan areas
- all other metropolitan areas at the provincial level
- all other non-reserve urban areas at the provincial and territorial levels
- and all non-reserve rural areas at the provincial or territorial levels

Workshops

Available beginning 4th quarter 1991 and continuing until 4th quarter 1993

Workshops can help new and current clients get the most out of census data. Workshops vary between full and half day sessions and will be supplemented by take-home materials. Proposed topics include an introduction to the Census of Population as well as workshops on the Census of Agriculture, Census geography and how to use electronic census products. Other topics relate to employment equity, and the use of Census data in market research.

Client Services: Looking for Ways to Serve You Better

Statistics Canada offers a variety of services to help you find the data products best suited to your budget and needs. We publish an award winning bi-monthly newsletter Focus for the Future which is designed not only to provide you with the most up-to-date information on 1991 Census data products and services, but with entertaining stories on census results. Prices for census products will be published there in the January 1992 issue.

If you are not already receiving Focus for the Future, you can get your free subscription by filling in the order coupon provided at the end of this publication.

The 1991 Census Catalogue will be available in April 1992 and will provide you with everything you need to know to benefit from 1991 Census data base. Full product and publication descriptions, content guides and prices will be included.

Focus on Canada Series Série « Le Canada à l'étude »
96-	A series of descriptive analytical publications that looks at current social, economic and demographic characteristics of the Canadian population. This series has an easy-to-read style with statistical findings that are supported by straightforward text and clearly illustrated in accompanying tables and charts.		Approx. 15.00	P
	These publications cover many aspects of Canadian society and focus on distinctive segments of our population, such as the growing senior population, the changing family and the residents of Canada's North. Data from previous censuses and other sources are also used to illustrate the current situation as well as study trends over time on a national, provincial and metropolitan area level.
96-	Une série descriptive et analytique qui se penche sur les caractéristiques sociales, économiques et démographiques actuelles de la population canadienne. Cette série possède un style facile à comprendre, étant donné les textes simples et clairs illustrés de tableaux et de graphiques qui viennent appuyer les résultats statistiques.		Environ 15.00	P
	Les publications de cette série couvrent plusieurs aspects de la société canadienne et se penchent sur des caractéristiques particulières de la population, comme le groupe croissant des personnes âgées, l'évolution de la famille et le Nord canadien. On fait aussi appel aux données des recensements antérieurs et à d'autres sources afin d'illustrer la situation actuelle et d'étudier les tendances à l'échelle du pays, des provinces et des régions métropolitaines.
